
Summer Wines to Pair With BBQs and Warm Weather

Summer is here and if you're anything like me, you'll be spending most of your time at BBQs and hanging outdoors by pools, rivers and cool waters. But what wine to bring? Everyone's tastes are different so there's no right answer, but here are some of my favorites...

2008 Keefer Ranch Pinot Noir Russian River Valley

Freeman Pinot Noir ($46) is an outstanding Pinot and my top pick for steak. It's got the bold personality to stand up to any cut of meat and just about any sauce without taking anything away. Drink it alone, chill it slightly, or even drink it with chicken or fish. This is the kind of Pinot that's going to be good no matter what.
