Ken and Akiko Freeman, owners of Sonoma's Freeman Vineyard & Winery, have donated 24 acres of old growth and second growth redwood forest to the Bodega Land Trust, a California nature conservancy. The forests are located on Freeman Ranch, a 50-acre Occidental, California property purchased by the Freemans in 2007. Fourteen acres of orchard and pastureland on the steep, coastal property will also be converted to an organically farmed vineyard devoted mainly to Pinot Noir.
